Baby Lost: A Story Of Grief And Hope

Synopsis

"What happens when a death occurs within your body, but you survive? Two days after Christmas, law lecturer Hannah Robert, eight months pregnant, was driving her partner and stepkids home from a picnic when their car was crushed by a four-wheel-drive. Hannah's baby didn't survive. When Hannah told her story in court, the judge wept. In her struggle to make sense of the personal and legal aftermath, Hannah had to find out what it means to mother a dead child and to renegotiate her own relationship with hope. Her powerful story is written with clarity and beauty, shining light on an unimaginably dark event and is, unexpectedly, tempered with life and promise."

Customer Reviews

It is terrible that this book isn't easily purchased on (U.S.). I was fortunate to have read an ARC provided by NetGalley, and I realize if not for the ARC I'd never have discovered "Baby Lost". It is a beautifully written story of a woman's journey through the grief of losing a baby because of a car accident at 8 months pregnant. Having lost a child myself, this was a VERY special read that helped me revisit my own grief. It was eye opening and provided me new ideas and perspective regarding the human spirit, and my own definition of "personhood". Thank you Hannah Roberts for sharing such a personal story. It has meant so much to me.
