Delaplaine lives on South Beach, Miami's Billion Dollar Sandbar. He writes in widely varied fields: screenplays, novels (adult and juvenile) and journalism. He also has a series of some respected Long Weekend Guides covering some 70 cities around the world. Email: andrewdelaplaine@mac.com He writes several series: The JACK HOUSTON ST. CLAIR political thriller novels. "THE ADVENTURES OF SHERLOCK HOLMES IV," a series of novels starring the great-great-grandson of the famous consulting detective. "THE ANNALS OF SANTOPIA" series, an epic that follows a Santa born in 1900 through to his death 82 years later. Other novels: "Midnight Mass," about the Christmas Eve robbery of historic Trinity Church in New York. "The Trap Door" follows a boy who is taken back in time to 1594 and Shakespeare's Globe Theatre. "The Meter Maid Murders," a comic look at a detective trying to nab a serial killer on South Beach who only murders meter maids. Has written and directed three features (one doc, two narrative features), and won several awards for his film work. (See imdb.com for details). His latest film, "Meeting Spencer," starring Jeffrey Tambor, won the prestigious Milan International Film Festival Award for Best Screenplay. Small book, but has a lot of information, that will help in unfamiliar place. This is not really the guide book, but more the reference book. It's good to have such info in one place. At the end of the book there is a long list of other places reviewed by the author which I plan to buy when I need them.

This "guide" was nothing more than a pamphlet such as you would get in a hotel lobby listing local attractions bound in a glossy cover. There were almost as many pages touting other "guide books" in this series as there were describing Newport. Give the entire Delaplaine "Long Weekend Guide" series a miss; this is a poorly thought out and sloppily executed business from start to finish.

Very incomplete - only 50 pages (counting only content, not table of contents and index. Table of Contents shows "Where to Stay: High on the Hog - Sensible Alternatives - Budget" then doesn't indicate which lodging is which. There are no guides to price on the descriptions of lodgings. The section on Newport's "Cottages" is only a listing, no descriptions. One could get as much information with a quick (free) Web search.

Great little book for a weekend visit to Newport. If an extended stay, you'll need much more detail
